As Editor in Chief of International Journal of Recent Surgical & Medical Sciences (IJRSMS), it gives me an immense pleasure to announce the coalition of our journal, IJRSMS, which is an Official Publication of Medical & Surgical Update Society (MSUS) with Thieme Medical Publishers. With a view to promote medical research, our goal is to contribute by reviewing, updating, and disseminating new knowledge.

Our journal aims to contribute toward the improvement of the quality of health care by bringing together the academicians and clinicians to be a part of this initiative by contributing, reviewing, and promoting scientific work. We believe that quality researches and scientific information should spread horizontally across the world by clinicians, universities, or institutions by bridging the gap between researchers and readers.

IJRSMS is a biannual, multidisciplinary open access, peer-reviewed journal launched with a view to disseminate the scientific information by publishing evidence-based research abiding by the professional ethics and thus support advancement of the researchers' community by providing unrestricted access to quality research publications. We believe that unrestricted open-access scholarly information will facilitate improved sharing and exchange of knowledge globally.

We follow a rigorous process of peer review to ensure optimum standards and research integrity. We are committed to promote and highlight research which is of interest to our readers. Our journal also ensures that the published research is easy to search and cite so that the knowledge is accessible to other researchers, communities, and institutions around the globe, with its due credibility. It is a privilege to provide a supportive and accessible platform for our authors throughout the publishing process.

With this vision and mission, IJRSMS is planning to promote the journal globally worldwide. Hence, with this goal and insight, we have put a step forward in the field of scientific medicine, research, and innovation to serve medicine and health care.
